

Heavy Snows in Some Areas But Spring in Others

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A mixture of winter and spring storms battered areas in the east, south and west of the nation today. The violent winter weather which raked the eastern Rockies and Plains States appeared ended. Heavy snow piled up in central Lower Michigan and Wisconsin as the storm swept into the Midwest after dumping more than a foot of snow in sections of Colorado and southwest Nebraska. The snow belt extended eastward across northern areas into New York state.

Rains, severe thunderstorms and strong winds swept across many areas south of the snow belt.

The early spring snow clearing gave the northern areas a Christmase scene two days before Easter.

Northeasterly winds of 20 to 30 m.p.h. whipped the snow into drifts as the storm lashed areas in Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin and Michigan Thursday.

Driving conditions were hazardous.

Nearly a foot of snow was on the ground in La Crosse, Wis., while four inches fell in a six-hour period at Grand Rapids and Saginaw, Mich. Heaviest falls reported in New York state were three inches at Binghamton and more than an inch at Buffalo.

The extensive storm area, centered early this morning in Indiana, was expected to move to the middle Atlantic coastal region by tonight.

Wet weather was in store for most of the Great Lakes region, the Ohio Valley, parts of the middle Mississippi Valley and along the Atlantic Coast. Snow or snow flurries were indicated in the northern areas and showers in the Ohio Valley and along the Atlantic Coast.

South of the snow belt showers continued on Friday.

Ex-Dictator Expects to Live in Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Marcos Perez Jimenez, former dictator of Venezuela, expects to live in Miami Beach for a long time, despite an order to leave the country by April 15.

An Immigration Service decision that Jimenez, his wife and four children should leave the U.S. next month was "just a formality," David M. Walters, attorney for Jimenez, said today.

"We do not anticipate any trouble," said Walters. "After all he has been here as a visitor for a year, and that is a long visit."

Walters said he was sure the Immigration Service would rule favorably on the request for resident status.

The order for Jimenez to leave the U.S. for any country of his choice was issued March 13 by Joseph Savorel, district immigration director.

Folks Get a Real Thrill at Circus

NEW YORK (AP) — Peanuts, pink popcorn and a lion on the loose. The latter was inadvertently served up to about 2,000 persons attending a dress rehearsal Thursday night of the Ringling Bros.-Barnum and Bailey Circus at Madison Square Garden.

Putting on an impromptu, terrifying act for about 10 minutes was Ponto, heavily maned, 800-pound lion, said to be one of the largest of his species in captivity. He was finally recaptured in the lobby. No one was injured.

Ponto broke through a door of his cage and started roaming around the big arena while a tiger and lion act was in progress.

Temporarily king of all he surveyed, he leaped over the arena rail into a section of seats which luckily happened to be sparsely populated.

Some spectators stood their ground, not knowing what else to do. Others scattered.

Hans Naumann, the lion's trainer, dashed after Ponto with whip, chain and pistol. Ponto headed for the lobby. It immediately emptied.

Apparently, the huge beast was following the scent to other animals in the basement menagerie. He vainly tried to tear down the locked door to the basement.

Frustrated, he tried to climb on to a telephone booth in the lobby. Men with an acrobat's not cornered him there. With Naumann directing, a cage on rubber tires was wheeled in, and Ponto was safely stored away.

Newly Formed Magnolia Garden Club at Washington Is Named After Widely Known Landmark

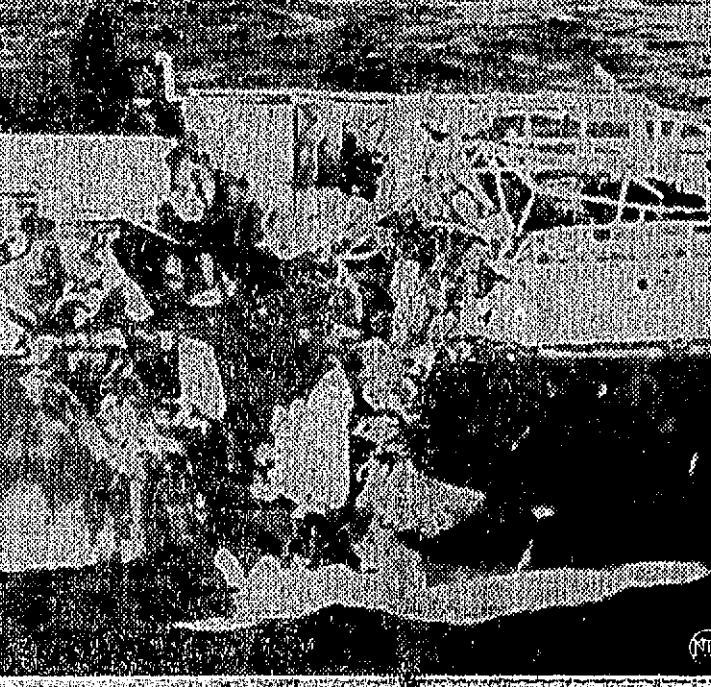

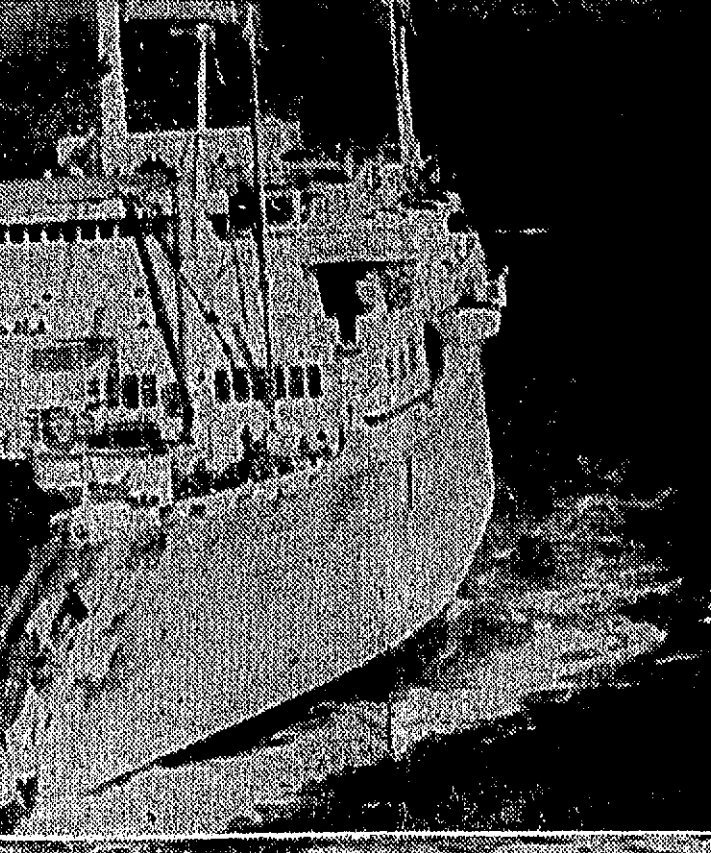

Significance and sentimentality were evident when the new garden club in Washington was named "The Magnolia Garden Club." Historic Washington proudly carries the honor of having in its community the landmark Magnolia tree which is presumably the largest in the world. To strive to be as stately and to exemplify the dignity and beauty of a Magnolia tree is an aim that the Magnolia Club will endeavor to keep uppermost in the minds of its members.

Mrs. J. C. Carlton, a member of the Rose Garden Club of Hope, an honorary member of four of the Hope Garden Clubs, organized the Magnolia Garden Club and installed the officers.

The meeting was held March 25 at 2:30 p.m. in the Historic State Capitol building which was decorated with potted plants and flower arrangements.

The officers elected and installed for a period of two years: President, Mrs. W. I. Stroud; first vice president, Mrs. Moss Rowe; second vice president, Mrs. Paul Dughey; secretary, Mrs. W. H. Eiler; treasurer, Mrs. H. L. Pincus; historian, Mrs. J. O. Luck; and reporter, Mrs. J. O. Luck.

Seeks All Data Found in the Election Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Omar Burleson (D-Tex.) of the House Administrative Committee, has asked for any information uncovered at Little Rock in a federal investigation of the election of Rep. Alfred D. (D-Ark.).

An aide said Burleson asked U.S. Dist. Atty. Osro Cobb at Little Rock to forward any information that might be helpful to the committee which will consider the possibility of an investigation of the election.

The committee's decision on whether to order a congressional inquiry may be made at a meeting scheduled for April 15.

Alford, Little Rock segregationist, defeated former Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.), civil rights moderate, by 1,300 votes after a last minute write-in campaign.

Subsequently John Wells, Little Rock weekly newspaper publisher, charged there were irregularities in the election.

When Congress began its new session an objection was made to Alford taking his seat. However, Alford was seated under a resolution which authorized but did not direct the Burleson committee to make an investigation.

Senate records indicate the bill was received by Mr. Helen James, a secretary to Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

U.S. Resumes Full Relations With Red Bulgaria

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States today resumed full diplomatic relations with Communist Bulgaria.

This ended a nine-year break resulting from Bulgaria's charges against the last American minister in Sofia was a spy.

The State Department dropped the long diplomatic boycott after the Bulgarian regime announced it has withdrawn charges against the United States. Former Minister Donald Heath.

A Bulgarian government report sent to the U.S. State Department on Nov. 6, 1958, accused persons charged with the alleged spying. Therefore, Bulgaria said, "charges against the United States have been withdrawn."

The agreement to resume diplomatic relations came about as a result of more than two years of sporadic behind the scenes talks. The Bulgarians first suggested the move in December 1957.

More formal talks began March 4 this year in New York and in Washington. The Bulgarian ambassador to the United Nations, PAVEL C. VUTOV, represented his government. Roy D. Kohler, deputy assistant secretary of state for European affairs, represented the United States.

"These conversations have successfully overcome the previously existing obstacles to the resumption of normal diplomatic relations," reflecting the traditional friendship between the Bulgarian and American peoples, the State Department said.

The preliminary discussions were pointed toward an East-West foreign ministers meeting in Geneva May 11 and a later summit conference, as proposed by the Soviet Union by the Western powers Thursday.

It is an open question whether the U.S.S.R. would be interested in any part of the U.S. plan or in any other which the Western powers might suggest.

Some officials say there is at least a slight possibility Soviet premier Nikita Khrushchev may be seriously interested in negotiations with the Soviets prepared to put on the table a set of reasonable proposals which would dramatically demonstrate the willingness of the Western powers to make agreements with the Soviet Union on fair terms.

Coast Guard officers and officials of the T. J. Stevenson Co., managing agents for the tanker, immediately went aboard to question crew members about the 3 a.m. crash off Atlantic City, N. J.

Reporter were not permitted aboard the vessel.

Eighteen crewmen were aboard the tanker as it came into port, towed by tugboats which brought it here from the collision scene some 10 miles to the south.

Woman Kills Two of Her Children

MORRISTOWN, N.J. (AP)—Ellen Church, who told authorities she killed two of her children because "they were all insane," is in Greystone Hospital today.

She was committed Wednesday after two psychiatrists examined her and said she was insane when her children were murdered Tuesday.

At the time of the murder she was suffering from schizophrenia, said Mrs. Lawrence Collins and Joseph Ziegler. "The condition had been in existence and growing in intensity for the past several months," the doctors said.

"Her scientist husband who came home to find two of his children dead and his wife and other two children, drugged with sleeping pills was stunned."

Morris County Prosecutor Frank Scerbo said no charges had been filed against Mrs. Church, 36, a former school teacher, but the case would be referred to the grand jury later.

Scerbo said Mrs. Church has shown "some remorse" over the deaths of Katherine, 2, and Kenneth, 6 months.

Chapter XXIX

"Please, dear," his wife said. "You're firing yourself."

"I'll all right, Ackerman said. "Leave me alone. Immediately. He patted her cheek. "I'm sorry, Clara. I didn't mean to speak sharply."

"I said, 'Frankly, I have no ideas. You hired me. Am I still working for you?'"

"Yes, I'll clear it with Logan," Clarissa Ackerman looked distressed. "But, dear, Logan is the general manager."

"Not for long," he said grimly. "After the board meets, I'll be the general manager. And Logan knows it. He'll go along with me in spite of his fears."

I went out. Mrs. Ackerman called. "Mr. Bennett — just a moment."

I faced her as she came out of the room. "Thank you so much," she said softly. "For treating me as you did yesterday afternoon. I — I deserved it. And, it made me realize that I've caused my own unhappiness. If I had thought a little of Howard's happiness, I —" she lowered her head. "This is — embarrassing. But I wanted you to know. If I was not attracted to you, how could I expect to be attractive to my husband? It's been my fault. Today we had a talk, and —" She looked up at me and smiled. "Do I sound like a soap opera?"

"Not at all," I was embarrassed, too. "Thanks for returning my hat."

The gate man, with the toothbrush mustache, said, "Gee, Mr. Bennett, I'm sorry, but Mr. Masters left instructions not to admit you to the factory any more."

"I called Logan Masters' house," he answered and I said, "This is Bennett."

"Yes," he said coldly. "Mr. Ackerman told me to continue with the job. I'm at the plant now, but the gate man won't let me in — on your orders, he says."

"That's correct. And Howard Ackerman has no voice in the matter."

"He seems to think differently. Has he contacted you?"

"Yes, through Mrs. Ackerman. She called me a short time ago and conveyed his request that you continue. I refused. I'm still general manager."

"Yes, sir," I decided to break my promise to Ginny. "Why didn't you tell me about that threatening note you received?"

"How do you know about that, Bennett?"

"I regretted that he no longer called me Jim," I said. "That doesn't matter. What does matter is that you allowed it to alarm you unduly."

"Do you know what the note said?"

"Yes, sir. I expect me not to be alarmed when the safety of my daughter is involved, not to mention serious labor trouble?"

"Listen, Mr. Masters, you can't shrug this thing off. It won't go away by itself. I'm involved, too, and I'd like to do a little more investigating. Will you please tell your man here that I may enter "The guard said, 'My God, who is it?'"

"Who was it, you mean," the fireman, Vossky, said. "I tell you that thing gave me a shock when I pulled it out."

"How did he get in there?"

"I must have been Tuesday night," the fireman said. "This is Thursday, and the kilns — on a three-day burning cycle. Both he and the guard looked at me expectantly, as if I was supposed to do something about it."

Two Youths Try to Rob a Bank
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two boys accused of attempted bank robbery stood away and contrite before Juvenile Court Judge Merlyn I. Cronin.

He looked sternly at Dan McKay, 9, and Danny Husk, 13, and asked where they got the idea.

"From television," stammered the boys.

Judge Cronin scolded them, lectured the parents and sent them home Wednesday. Little Dan and Danny had spent the night in Youth Guidance Center after their arrest Tuesday.

They admitted going to the Bank of America's Mission branch and presenting a note demanding $100 under threat to "blow up the bank." The teller, Miss Filamene Miller, shooed them away and told the manager. He called police, who stalked out the boys' homes and arrested them after their return from a movie.

Little Dan and Danny said they had only wanted to replenish their supply of a play money issued by a bank as a promotion.

Arkansas Post Park Is Given a Boost

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prospects for establishment of a national park at the site of historic Arkansas Post, on the Mississippi River in southeastern Arkansas, were given a boost today.

The Interior Department notified Rep. W. F. Norrell (D-Ark.) that its Advisory Board on National Parks and Historic Sites had recommended Arkansas Post State Park and its environs for consideration as a national park.

The board said the area is of "exceptional value for commemorating the important historical events associated with exploration and settlement of the lower Mississippi Valley."

Arkansas Post was the site of one of the earliest white settlements along the lower Mississippi. It originally was set up by a French soldier and explorer, De Tonti, in 1680.

Norrell, who has been seeking recognition of the site for several years, said that in view of the board's recommendation he will introduce a bill to authorize the Park Service to set up a national park in the area.

Under legislation previously sponsored by Norrell, historians and archaeologists have studied the area. Explorations have shown early Indian settlements in the area although the exact site of Tonti's settlement hasn't been pinpointed.

Gambling Setup Is Raided in New York
PIERMONT, N.Y. (AP)—State and local officers broke down guarded doors and seized 45 well-heeled men in a raid on a plush gambling parlor Wednesday night.

Some of the men were playing cards. Others were jolting in easy chairs as the raiders burst in.

A catering firm with portable stoves was serving steaks, chops, salads and other food.

Wads of more than $2,000 were found on a number of the men. There was no sign of liquor around the layout.

There was a guard outside the place, and a buzzer system was used to gain admittance.

Several expensive cars — including a Rolls Royce — were parked outside.

An agent of the State Investigation Commission, which was in on the raid, called it "very important."

Denies Affair With Wife of Man Shot
MORRILLTON, Ark. (AP)—Lee Mode, wealthy Conway landowner, denied today he was ever intimate with the wife of a man he is accused of slaying last Oct. 13.

Mode is accused of first degree murder in the death of Delbert L. Russell, 36, who was shot down on a Conway business street. Previous witnesses testified Mode and Russell had argued about Mode's alleged attentions to Mrs. Mildred Russell.

Mode, 44, testified his first trouble with Russell occurred about a year before the slaying when Russell accused him of having intimate relations with Mrs. Russell. Mode said he told Russell he was mistaken, and later Russell apologized.

The Russells were living on Mode's farm near Conway at the time. Mode said the only visits he made to the farm were "for business reasons."

Fire Brings Death to Negro Child
CAMDEN, Ark. (AP)—Fire last night destroyed a small frame house and killed Loretha McKelvey, a 3-year-old Negro girl.

Coroner George Mathis said the fire apparently started from a wood-burning stove.

The girl was the daughter of Mrs. Lorena Waller.

No one else was injured.

Mode Given 21 Years at Morrilton

MORRILLTON, Ark. (AP)—Lee Mode, 45-year-old retired Conway contractor, faces a sentence of 21 years in prison on a second degree murder conviction.

An all-male Circuit Court jury last night found Mode guilty of the fatal shooting of Delbert L. Russell, 36, on a downtown Conway street last Oct. 13.

The state had pictured the slaying as a result of a love triangle involving the two men and Mrs. Russell.

Mode, who denied the love triangle contention and claimed the shooting was in self defense, sat motionless as Judge Audrey Stralk read the verdict.

Mode's attorneys said they would appeal. The judge gave them 15 days to file a motion for a new hearing and allowed Mode to remain free under $25,000 bond.

The state during the three-day trial sought a first degree murder conviction and a life sentence.

The jury reached its decision after deliberating 88 minutes.

In closing arguments, prosecuting attorneys pictured Mode as lying in wait for Russell and killing him, so he could have Mrs. Russell for himself, and to eliminate the plaintiff in an alienation of affections suit.

The suit, filed by Russell against Mode, was pending at the time of the shooting.

Defense attorneys told the jury Mode was a "sick old man" who sold his property and left Conway to avoid trouble with Russell. They said no romance existed between Mode and Mrs. Russell.

Relatives of both Mode and Russell were in the courtroom during the trial but Mrs. Russell was not present.

Mode took the witness stand in his own defense yesterday and testified for almost two hours. He denied having an affair with Mrs. Russell and said, "Your honor, I haven't got a bit more use for a woman than a hog has for a side saddle."

He said his only interest in women was "I like their cooking."

Earlier in the trial, Russell's son, Jerry, 14, had testified that he had seen Mode "hugging and kissing" Mrs. Russell and calling her "honey and sweetie pie."

Mode said that was untrue and added, "I never called anybody that in my life."

Mode said that on the day of the shooting, Russell approached him on the street "with his hands up and looking wild-eyed," and that Russell cursed him and said, "I'm going to kill you."

Mode told the court Russell then grabbed him and tried to reach into Mode's pocket for a gun. Mode finally got the gun himself, he said, and Russell grabbed his wrist. The weapon fired during the struggle, he testified.

"My mind was that he was going to kill me," Mode said.

Russell was a former employee of Mode.

In addition to the $300,000 alienation of affections suit filed by Russell, a similar suit was filed after the fatal shooting. The second

Taylor-McKelvey
Miss Sophie Marie McKelvey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roy McKelvey and Bobby W. Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Taylor, all of Prescott, were married Saturday evening in a vintage hour candlelight service in the Shady Grove Baptist Church.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Stacy Thrasher, pastor of the Shady Grove Baptist Church, with a large open Bible marked with white satin streamers. On each side of the altar were white columns centered with urns of white stock, interperced with candelabras holding cathedral tapers.

Family pews were marked with large white satin bows entwined with southern smilax. Mrs. Neil Weeks, organist, played a program of traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. W. L. Burley who sang "Whither Thou Goest." Misses Judy Meador and Nelda McBrayer, who wore white choir robes and a wristlet of pink camellias, were candlelighters.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dress of white satin and lace with an illusion of white applique in lace encrusted with seed pearls. The long-waisted bodice was joined to a full, gored floor length skirt. Her veil of illusion was attached to a band of plush leaves, and she carried a white lace covered Bible, topped with white camellias and lilies of the valley. The Bible was a gift of the bride's great aunt.

Miss Bonita McKelvey, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and carried a cascade of pink camellias and carnations. The bridesmaids were Miss Louise Martin of Shreveport and Miss Veronica Irvin of Camden, cousins of the bride and wore elbow length gloves and a strand of twisted pearls, which were a gift of the bride, and identical street length dresses of turquoise tulle with matching head clips topped with net and lilies of the valley. All attendants carried lighted tapers in a holder entwined with pink camellias.

Little Miss Sandra Kay Hulan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Hulan, was flower girl. Her dress and head piece was identical to that of the bridesmaids.

Harvey Taylor of Joliet, Ill., served his brother as best man. Ushers were Sammy Barham and William Peltz of Longview, Texas, cousins of the groom.

The brides mother wore a turquoise silk frock with beige accessories and a corsage of pink camellias. The groom's mother wore a mauve dress of crepe and satin with matching accessories and a corsage of pink camellias.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the home of the bride's parents. Guests were greeted and introduced to the receiving line by Mrs. Neil Weeks. The serving table, covered with a white cut-work cloth, was centered with a cherub complete with crystal pinmas, holding an arrangement of white stock candy tuff and pom poms. It was surrounded by four burning tapers in crystal holders. The three-tiered wedding cake with white swan dividers was topped with the traditional bride and groom.

Assisting in serving were Misses Nelda McBrayer and Judy Meadors. Mrs. W. L. Burley was in charge of the bride's book which was placed on a table that held the attendants' bouquets and candles and a miniature bride and groom.

Mrs. Grady Cox and Mrs. Jessie Griffin invited the guests into see the many, beautifully displayed gifts. Others dispensing hospitality were Mrs. Lee Roy Taylor and Mrs. James Cobb of Hope. Little Misses Linda Cobb of Hope and Lana Irvin of Camden gave the guests miniature white crocheted wedding bells tied with white ribbon.

After the reception the couple left for a short wedding trip. For travel the bride chose a lime-faile dress with beige accessories and pinned the camellias from her bridal bouquet at her shoulder.

Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Hartwell Irvin, Vernona, Lana and Stanley of Camden; Mr. and Mrs. Ruel McKelvey; Jerry and Billy Ray; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Martin and Mr. and Mrs. Hillie Griffin of Bluff.

Miss Sara Jane McGill spent Sunday in Bates Bluff with her father, Minto McGill.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Hamby Sunday were Mrs. J. J. Ballew and Miss Mattie Royston of Fulton.

professed to any knowledge of the copy. That included Fabus.

Mrs. James said there was no receipt for it in her official receipt book for legislative bills. Asked about any other receipt, she replied "no comment."

The original bill was taken home by its author, Sen. M. A. West of Paragould, March 12, when the recent legislative session ended.

West was disgruntled because although the bond bill passed both houses, a companion measure which would have given priority to secondary road construction and limited expenditures for maintenance failed of adoption.

The certified copy was prepared after West did not return the original bill. Legislative sources said the copy would be just as effective.

Fabus now has until April 4 to sign or veto legislative bills. Any not acted on by then become law without his signature.

Apparently the present situation could be basis for court action if the certified copy does not turn up and no other reaches the governor.

Somehow similar mixups over bills are not infrequent. In 1937 litigation developed over whether Fabus had vetoed a bill within the required period of delivery to his office. In this instance, the issue was time of delivery.

Teenage Sex Ring Smashed in New York

MASTIC BEACH, N.Y. (AP)—Police said today they had broken up a teenage sex ring started 18 months ago by two girls who one of them was only 10 years old.

Five boys aged 16 to 17 and three girls, now 12, 16 and 16 met for sex parties mostly in the afternoon after school at their own homes, the homes of relatives or "anyplace they could get," police said.

The 17-year-old boy, Donald Sushino, was charged with second degree rape and ordered held for the grand jury. A 16-year-old boy, Joseph Donahue, was charged with sodomy, but the charges were dismissed by justice of the Peace, Ulisses W. Johnson in a hearing at Brookhaven, Thursday. Brookhaven town detective Cecil Rich said other charges will be filed against Donahue.

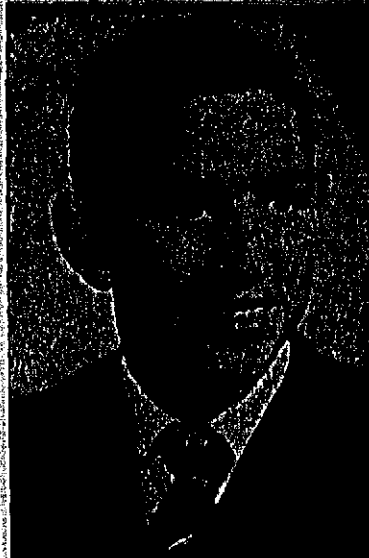

The other boys, all 16, and the two younger girls will be charged with juvenile delinquency, Rich said.

The ring came to light Monday night, Rich said, when the 16-year-old girl who joined the club a month ago broke down and told her father after he noticed she seemed very worried. She is being questioned by police and her name was not revealed.

Rich said more arrests are expected. He said the children, all except Sushino, fellow students in the local high school, came from respectable, average families and that the parents never allowed their daughters out at night.

He said the two younger girls organized the club and "apparently" made most of the advances on dates.

DOROTHY DIX Cheating Mires Family in Swamp of Sulkiness

Dear Dorothy Dix:

Four years ago I became emotionally involved with a prominent businessman from out-of-state and maneuvered him into a position where he had to marry me. He was engaged at the time, so to avoid gossip we moved away from both our home states. He didn't love me at the time and doesn't love me now. He goes to any lengths to stay away from home. He never speaks to me and seldom pays attention to our children. He has never once said he loved any of us. He's always been a good provider. His complete indifference is getting more unbearable every day. For the sake of the children, to observe convention, and also because he doesn't believe in it, divorce is out of the question. Is there any solution to our heartbreak? — Gloria M.

Dear Gloria: You maneuvered at least five people into a blind alley called misery and there is no possible way for sunshine to enter it. Happiness doesn't come from cheating — a lesson you're learning. Your husband is a man of ideals and principle. He won't shirk his duty or bypass his obligations, which are simply to keep you and the children housed, fed and clothed. He owes the children, at least, more than that and I think as they grow older he'll see them as people who deserve love. You will never be happy, nor will your husband, but you both should try to foster his love for the children. Talk to him. Don't let the situation bog down in a swamp of sulkiness. Tell him you are aware that your marriage started off on the wrong foot but, since it is an accomplished fact, you are willing to go along for the children and hope he will do the same. Have you ever admitted to him that you were wrong? Do so, it will clear the atmosphere quite a bit and open the way to a new start. You would both be helped by consultation with a marriage counselor and clergyman.

Dear Dorothy Dix: The boy I like doesn't believe in going steady. I can't enjoy myself with anyone else. We are very good friends but I want more than that. — Dizzy

Dear Dizzy: One of the great blessings of life is that we can't have everything we want. After all, how many times have you wanted something desperately one day, then had no use for it the next? This boy will probably pass into oblivion, to be replaced by the one and only. Be content with friendship now. Steady dating and its follow-ups will come later.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

I'm 15, the oldest of a large family, and quite concerned with my social life. My parents go out frequently and I'm left to look after the young ones. I never minded that but lately I've had to turn down some swell dates because of these baby-sitting chores. I'm getting sick of it. — Myrtle

Dear Myrtle: If you're the next youngest, the next youngest must be quite capable too. This calls for a family conference. Explain the situation to Mom. Tell her you don't mind looking after the kids but would like to begin your own social life. This is a reasonable request and I'm sure your parents will see it that way, once it's brought to their attention.

Send your problem to Dorothy Dix. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and address her care of this newspaper.

Industrial School Audit Extended

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Joint Legislative Audit Committee voted today to extend an audit at the Arkansas Negro Boys Industrial School at Wrightsville.

Sen. Max Howell of Little Rock, a committee member, asked for the action after referring to "pay roll juggling" mentioned by Gov. Orval E. Fabus in recent comments on a State Police probe of a disastrous dormitory fire at the school.

Twenty-one boys perished in the blaze March 5. The governor recommended dismissal of L. R. Gaines, superintendent of the school, as a result of circumstances surrounding the fire. The 68 boys who survived the holocaust had to kick their way through heavy window screens as doors to the dormitory were locked.

Fabus also said Gaines' wife was on the payroll of the school, although she was a full-time teacher at Dunbar Junior High School at Little Rock. A salary was also listed for a missing employee, and other alleged financial discrepancies were cited by the governor.

Legislative Auditor Orval M. Johnson said a team of state auditors currently was engaged in

CANDIDATE FOR STATEHOOD—Straddling the Tropic of Cancer, the 1,500-mile chain that composes the Hawaiian Islands soon may be the 50th state. Extending from the sugar-producing island of Hawaii to uninhabited Kure, many points of this oceanic complex are little more than stopping places for migrating birds. Sixty per cent of the islands' 570,000 population live on Oahu, with its capital city of Honolulu and the naval base of Pearl Harbor. Although removed from the Hawaiian group by Congress in 1893, Palmyra Island, almost 1,000 miles southward, may be included in statehood plans. Largest industries, in order, are sugar, pineapples, tourism, livestock and fishing.

Plain talk to the man who thinks "all cars are built alike today"

"The one thing we know car buyers want above all in an automobile is quality. Yet many people assume that all cars today are pretty much the same
A Mercury is in this respect.

This is far from being the case; I can name at least 30 basic differences in the design of our '59 Mercury. Naturally, we feel these differences make Mercury a better car. For example:

EXTRA STRENGTH STARTS WITH THE FRAME
The backbone of every Mercury is the frame. We use a heavy box-type construction—the heaviest in the industry.
Competitors use frames that are up to 125 pounds lighter.

WE BUILD QUALITY YOU CAN SEE
Compare the way Mercury builds engine hoods. Most competitive cars use what is known as a single-panel construction. This type of hood can be twisted and turned with the slightest pressure—often flutters and vibrates when the car is in motion. At Mercury, on the other hand, we use a double-panel construction—two layers of steel with the insulation sandwiched in between. Not only is Mercury's hood more rigid, but it looks better.

YOU FEEL THE QUALITY WITH EVERY STOP...
Mercury brakes are the largest in the field—with up to 22% more brake lining than competitive cars. And only Mercury in its field has brakes that adjust themselves mechanically. You save money by eliminating periodic adjustments. And you're safer because Mercury brakes stay properly adjusted for the life of the linings.

...AND EVERY TIME YOU TAKE THE WHEEL
All 1959 Mercurys have a flexible coupling installed in the steering system.

This acts as an insulator—absorbs road shocks that would otherwise travel up to the steering wheel. Mercury, unlike some cars, gives you this with either manual or power steering.

WE HAVE PLENTY OF PROOF THAT THIS IS THE BEST-BUILT CAR IN AMERICA TODAY
We know it is the greatest Mercury ever designed and built. Never in Mercury's 20-year history have we had so much value in the product itself.
Mercury has advantages everywhere over competition. The four described on this page are only typical. In future messages I'll tell you about dozens more—in styling, comfort, in everything you want in a car.
